A moment of your time please.

I am going help you. So listen carefully.

Julian Assange faces his final extradition appeal in 17 days.
The courts are stacked against him in the UK; with one of the judges presiding having deep connections to the war industry.

I want you to understand that your freedoms hinge upon his.

Listen carefully. I am your friend. I helped manufacture the movement for Julian quietly alongside a team of wonderful people. I was a part of the group that designed and built the mechanism by which his legal defense and awareness campaign were funded. I was the source of the idea for getting Elon Musk to poll a world on his freedom. I created images of Julian's documented suffering that went hyper-viral across an entire world and woke up a sleeping people. I was even invited to his private wedding ceremony. There is more there, but let me sum this up. For all our efforts, the CIA sits at the helm of a blind rage against Julian. They desperately want his head on a plate. Make no guesses here. They will absolutely attempt to force through their illegal extradition; in flagrant violation of "the law" on every level. They want him silenced, permanently.

His life, and your freedoms are still very much at risk.

One of the greatest defences to his life right now, is the spectacle of public opinion. The eyes of the People squarely upon him may be the only weight great enough to preserve his life and put a stop to his extradition and the death of Press freedom everywhere.

You have seen what the powers that be want, they want death and destruction, an endless supply of tax dollars to fund endless war. Julian stands directly between them and that goal. More than this, Julian holds key answers to questions that they do not want seeing the light of day.

So. I urge you, as your friend. As a member of a team of less than 10. To speak out.

I will give you the information required, all you need to do is put pen to paper, and raise your voice. You may feel powerless alone in the grand scheme of things but I assure you, your voice matters.

Between Julian's final appeal and extradition, moves will be made once more to petition the European Court of Human Rights and prevent his extradition. And his case is extremely strong. But there is no guarantee we can have them rule in time; or that the U.K. or U.S. will recognize the sovereignty of that court.

So. Raise your voice. Because it may be all that preserves the rights of your generation, and those to come; as well as preserve the life of one of the greatest friends humanity has ever had.

Here is the information you need. This is the judge that presides over his case in the U.S.. I promise you, as you raise your voice; we will still be doing all that can be done. But this is your moment. Set pen to paper, and breathe life into your own defense of a person who gave you everything they could to see your future safe and free of the evils of war.
