

CONNECTING THE DOTS

to see the picture emerge of the artful "New World Order" agenda

by Thomas Beckford, 2005

Make no mistake about it: This is no "conspiracy theory". It is a conspiracy allright, but there is nothing theoretical about it, as anyone who really looks with open eyes, can easily see. This "New World Order" scheme consists of many intertwined tactics in different areas and on different levels, primarily targetting developing countries and poor or undesirable populations. In the following I will connect the dots representing the most prominent ones into a frighteningly clear and coherent picture.

The propagation of wars, not least civil wars. Prime locations are Africa, the Balkans, the former Soviet Union, the Philippines, Indonesia, Sri Lanka, India, Afghanistan, Latin America, Iraq, and so on. Astronomic, obscene profits are being made on the sale of weapons of all kinds by a few large conglomerates and international arms dealers, the most important of which are in close complicity with leading political figures who have an influence on the outbreak of these wars and the power to allow arms shipments. So, for instance, is the Bush family in the US deeply involved in the Carlyle group, which is one of the world's most important providers of war materials. Confirming what any shrewd observer has suspected all along, information recently leaked out to the effect that Tony Blair, like his conservative predecessor John Major, will be rewarded for his support of the US wars in Afghanistan and Iraq by means of a sinecure with royal pay at the Carlyle group when he retires from politics. Another US company that is also deeply involved in the war business with directly awarded untendered multi-billion dollar contracts in Iraq, is Halliburton, which was run by US vice-president Dick Cheney just before he became vice-president.

The propagation of terrorism. A mainstay tactic in the provocation of wars is the fomenting and funding of terrorist activity, often achieved through infiltration into existing revolutionary groups by agents from the CIA, the MOSSAD, etc. Very often terrorist deeds are masterminded and funded by the country that on the surface would seem to be their targets, so called "false flag" operations. Analysing in depth who really benefits most in the long run from such terrorism, one may get a good indication of from where it came. And I am not talking about the individuals who carry out the bombings etc., since they are only instruments, either ignorant fanatics or just paid to do the job, without knowing who is really behind it.

The propagation of violence through media, especially so called action movies from Hollywood, as shown both at movie theaters and on open TV channels. This kind of movies, produced by the hundreds and shown practically daily on the vast majority of TV channel around the world, promote violence as a natural and constant phenomenon, often even glorified as heroic, and encourages young people to favor violence as a natural way to solve any problem, while at the same time building an underlying emotional climate of fear and hatred.

The propagation of poisons: The most pernicious and sinister aspect of the various wars incited since 1990 is the use of so called "depleted uranium", a nuclear material that will remain lethal for hundreds of thousands of years and may change the very foundations of the human race, by causing genetic mutations. It is the perfect means for destroying an entire population, not just those directly hit by the ammunition, as used to be the case in wars.

"Depleted uranium" has been used in Iraq since 1990, in the Balkans, and in Afghanistan, and is still used profusely by US and UK forces in spite of presenting overwhelming evidence to both the US Congress and the British Parliament of its baneful consequences for both sides in the war, and in spite of its being blatantly illegal and in violation of existing international treaties. It can be seen as a case of profitably selling dangerous material instead of safely disposing of it in accordance with existing legislation, which would be both difficult and very expensive.

The same thing happens with the rat poison fluoride, a highly toxic bi-product from several industrial processes, especially the aluminium industry. A purportedly "benefic" and "scientific" foundation funded by the Mellon family, owners of a near world monopoly on aluminium is the source of the fake research that claims fluoride is preventive of karies and should be added to the drinking water world-wide! The facts are these: Fluoride is an environmental poison; second only in toxicity to arsenic which is rated as the most toxic. Environmental laws require its safe disposal at a high cost for the industries, so now they instead sell it at a handsome profit for tax money to municipalities to equitably poison those citizens who do not use bottled water for drinking and food, either from ignorance or from lack of money. A very interesting aspect of this is that in both the German Nazi and the Soviet Russian concentration camps the prisoners were given fluoride in the water in order to keep them docile and obedient and prevent them from thinking independently or stage protests.

The high-jacking of global agriculture and food production

So called Terminator Technology was first developed by the United States Department of Agriculture and US seed company Delta & Pine Land to prevent farmers world-wide from saving and re-using harvested seed, forcing them to buy new manipulated seeds each season. This technology was then taken over by Monsanto.

The obvious intention of this policy is to control all food production in the entire world, which essentially amounts to a monopoly on life. It means that the multinational companies in possession of these patents can control who will eat, and who will starve to death. And the declared policy of the US government is to use its power over global food production as a weapon.

What is now happening in Iraq is a clear indicator of the USA's intentions for the rest of the world. Under the guise of helping get Iraq back on its feet, the US is setting out to totally re-engineer the country's traditional farming systems into a US-style corporate agribusiness. They've even created a new law – Order 81 – to make sure it happens. So the Iraqi farmer may have been wowed with the promise of a better yield, but unlike before, he can't save his seed for the following year. A 10,000-year old tradition has been replaced at a stroke with a contract for hire. Iraqi farmers have been made vassals to American corporations. That they were baking bread for 9,500 years before America existed has no weight when it comes to deciding who owns Iraq's wheat. Yet for every farmer that stops growing his unique strain of saved seed the world loses another variety, one that might have been useful in times of disease or drought. In short, what America has done is not restructure Iraq's agriculture, but dismantle it. The people whose forefathers first mastered the domestication of wheat will now have to pay for the privilege of growing it for someone else. And with that the world's oldest farming heritage will become just another subsidiary link in the vast American supply chain.

The propagation of disease – real or fake – resulting in massive scares and consequent drug sales, as well as vaccination programs, all of which debilitates the population, when not outright killing large portions of it, while again making billions in profits for those responsible, in this case the pharmaceutical and chemical industries, closely linked to politicians in power.

The insidious "HIV–AIDS" syndrome is the Rolls Royce in this category. It was artificially produced to order by the Reagan–Bush administration in 1984, then insidiously promoted and blown up and used as an excuse for a diabolically designed program which cruelly reduces socially or racially undesirable parts of the world population while at the same time making fantastic profits for the pharmaceutical companies. AIDS is a parallell effort to the provocation of wars by the arms lobby and the CIA in Africa, Latin America and elsewhere, and incredibly supported by the entire international community under the banners of the UN and the WHO among others.

But AIDS has another side to it as well. By falsely maintaining that it is incurable and fatal, and that it is spread by sexual intercourse, the propagators hoped that people in general would stop having sex without condoms, which should reduce nativity while producing a windfall for the industries involved with the production of condoms.

If you don't think this makes any sense, it is because everything you have been told about AIDS is untrue. When you find out what is true and what is not true with regard to HIV and AIDS, all the pieces will fall into place, and the whole monumental scam will become as clear as crystal.

The proliferation of illegal drugs by international drug cartels in secret close cooperation with US federal agencies, notably the CIA, contribute massively to ill health, crimes, and poverty in all affected countries. "The war on drugs" is as hypocritical and phony as the "war on cancer", the "war on AIDS", and the "war on terrorism", all of which have only massively increased what they pretend to eradicate.

The undermining of public health, not only by propagating poisons, and by pushing drugs – legal and illegal – that produce lethal side effects, but also by legislating to deny people treatments that do cure disease, on the pretext that they are "unproven" and potentially dangerous for the patients. In this category we now find such things as vitamins and natural healthy foods, which threaten to keep people healthy and thus keep them from becoming life-long consumers of the expensive and profitable synthetic drugs produced by the pharmaceutical industry, which is almost unconditionally backed by the US government. Donald Rumsfeld was the head of one of the world's largest pharmaceutical companies before he became Minister of Defence.

And there is more to it: The large food conglomerates are to a very large extent directly or indirectly owned by the pharmaceutical and chemical industries, and have the same interests as these, meaning that they do not want to see people eat healthy fresh foods and use natural medicine, since that would improve the health of the population and reduce demand for their products. The artificial sweetener Aspartame is a neurotoxic substance patented by the pharmaceutical giant Searle, that was prohibited by the FDA as a food additive for 20 years because of its many dangers for health. Donald Rumsfeld was the CEO of Searle, and when he got power with the government, he sacked the head of the FDA and personally inforced the approval of Searle's product Aspartame as a food additive. It is now being used in hundreds, if not thousands, of products, among them pharmaceutical drugs. The most damaging of its uses is as a sweetener in all "Light" soft drinks, which tend to be addictive.

In this overall picture we also find the new industry of Genetic Engineering (or Genetic Manipulation, GM) that produces genetically engineered plants and animals, without really knowing what consequences these may have on the environment and the future of the existing species, including us humans.

None of this bodes well for the traditional farmers, who are increasingly being bought out by producers of artificial, environmentally and medically harmful fertilizers, pesticides and insecticides as well as genetically manipulated crop. But it bodes even worse for the health and future of Humanity in general, meaning us, the consumers, and our offspring.

By exporting to developing countries harmful chemicals and medicines, that have been banned or usefully modified by and for the developed countries, two objectives are achieved: 1) The banned product can be profitably sold in developing countries, where legislators and politicians are to an even greater extent in the pay of industry lobbyists than is the case in the US and other developed countries; and

2) The population becomes sick and in need of more drugs, or dies. Thus the goal to reduce the populations in the poor countries is achieved, along with increased profit potential for the chemical and pharmaceutical industries in the developing countries. If chemically induced ill health and deaths can be blamed on "HIV-AIDS" – as it is – governments and international help agencies can be made to pay for expensive fraudulently named "anti-retroviral" drugs that will effectively finish the job of killing their victims while generating a new round of profits for the global pharmaceutical industry and their shareholding politicians.

All these intertwined agendas can be promoted by fear-mongering and the launching of "scares" such as the SARS scare, the Anthrax scare, the Asian bird flue scare, and other existing or invented threats, for instance that terrorists will spread infectious germs. In this category also figures the "mad cow" scare, and the "foot and mouth disease" scare, both of which have been utilized to slaughter off vast populations of healthy cattle in the hands of small independent farmers.

At the same time, these scares serve to make people accept new legislation that – in the name of "security" and "protection" dramatically curbs constitutionally guaranteed freedoms and rights, thus insidiously introducing a de facto dictatorship with a secret police worthy of the most brutal dictatorships in history.

Finally, the undermining of developing economies by US-controlled World Bank and International Monetary Fund, who contribute in no small degree to the continuing poverty, ill health, and armed conflicts in many developing countries, notably in Africa and Latin America. Its "neo-liberal" free-trade oriented economic policies have intentionally kept the countries they have "helped" in deep debt, with populations on the brink of starvation and rebellion, from which profitable armed conflicts can easily be triggered by covert CIA infiltration with funds coming from actively facilitated drug trafficking.
